(1973-)

Grenadines of St. Vincent

London once again becomes the scene of a major exhibition of postage stamps, attracting collectors from many countries to the centre of the philatelic world. Under the Royal Patronage of Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II, the exhibition is the largest ever to have been staged in the United Kingdom, and the first time that the stamps of the Grenadines of St. Vincent have been represented at such an event.

Until the release of their own postage stamps in November 1973, the islands were only twice represented on St. Vincent issues.

During recent years, however, stamps of the Grenadines have illustrated different aspects of life and geography of the islands, some of the flora and wildlife on-shore and off-shore, as well as a number of events and anniversaries.
